Angels Fall

Breaking Benjamin

I try to face the fight within But it's over I'm ready for the riot to begin And surrender I walked the path that led me to the end Remember I'm caught beneath, with nothing left to give Forever

When angels fall with broken wings I can't give up, I can't give in When all is lost and daylight ends I'll carry you and we will live forever

Grey skies will chase the light away No longer I've fought the fight, now only dark remains Forever Divided I will stand and I will let this end

When angels fall with broken wings I can't give up, I can't give in When all is lost and daylight ends I'll carry you and we will live forever

The sun begins to rise And wash away the sky The turning of the tide Don't leave it all behind And I will never say goodbye

When angels fall with broken wings I can't give up, I can't give in When all is lost and daylight ends I'll carry you and we will live forever
