

We aren't that different, you see
We both play stardust
And love our soft serve ice cream
I wish that it was me
You were dancing with
On the pool deck
The pool deck

I ain't your rockabye
Or indie darling guy
Or the train wreck
That makes you feel better
'Bout your own life

You're not bored with
Your poet laureate
Who sobered up
So you could cry
Life's a bitch but not sometimes

Nobody notices me here
And I don't wanna have to
Go out on a limb, go out on a limb
Just to get you to notice
When I know you just want them, I've been

Done feeling sorry for myself
And my time is a wasted
I know you want someone more like that
Which is sad, but baby
It ain't me and that's alright

Everyone has something
That no one else has
They should share it
Maybe I'm just sensitive
Don't want to give up
But I might have too
I might crash too

You're on a pleasure cruise
I'm on a ship a fools
I'm out here trying to cope
And trying not to lose
My mind yet

Throw me a life jacket
Help me forget
That no one's showing
Up for me
When everyone's invited

Nobody notices me here
And I don't wanna have to
Go out on a limb, go out on a limb

Done feeling sorry for myself
I know you want someone more like that
Which is sad, but baby
It ain't me and that's alright

That's alright
