

Airwaves

Brett Kissel

Its Friday night moon's light just hanging there Ain't too much going on anywhere
I picked her up turned the radio up and kicked dust down the driveway
We didn't make it more than a getaway mile til she put her pretty painted finger on the dial and got every speaker in the backseat buzzin' you could just tell that she loved it

There must be something in the airwaves
Cause every song the DJ plays
She leans a little bit closer and let's go what she's holdin' in She's dancin' around like a lit flame
Hand out the window like an airplane
Maybe it's the way shes singing, swaying got me thinking
there must be something in the kick drum drumming,
must be something in the guitar strumming
She ain't ever looked at me that way
Must be something in the airwaves
Must be something in the airwaves

She's got a little let loose in her eyes
She's turned up turned on hypnotized
I gotta get every bit of whatever it is she's feeling 'cause this feeling Like i don't wanna hear that signal fade
I don't wanna try to find another station
We got a little spot between the static working some kind of magic

There must be something in the airwaves
Cause every song the DJ plays
She leans a little bit closer in and let's go what she's holdin' in She's dancin' around like a lit flame
Hand out the window like an airplane
Maybe it's the way shes singing, swaying got me thinking
there must be something in the kick drum drumming,
must be something in the guitar strumming
She ain't ever looked at me that way
Must be something in the airwaves

There must be something in the airwaves
Cause every song that the DJ plays
She leans a little bit closer in and let's go what she's holdin' in She's dancin' around like a lit flame
Hand out the window like an airplane
Maybe it's the way shes singing, swaying got me thinking
there must be something in the kick drum drumming,
must be something in the guitar strumming
She ain't ever looked at me that way
Must be something in the airwaves
There must be there must be something in the airwaves