

Another One

Brett Kissel

Barstool sittin', got some Lynchburg swimmin'
In her rocks glass, feelin' right
She walks in, gets your heartbeat skippin'
Thinkin' how you gonna break the ice

She brushes against your shoulder
It's revvin' up your motor
Yeah, she's so damn pretty, you're just tryna keep it steady
Buddy, let me give you my advice

If her drink runs dry, don't waste time
Get that bartender pourin' another one
If she says, "Let's dance," tip that band
Drop a twenty, get 'em playin' another one

If your heart's on fire like the sun
'Cause you think that girl could be the one
Take her hand, take that chance
'Cause you might not get another one
Might not get another one

Denim on denim, now your're catchin' momentum
Shootin' smiles in a corner booth
You know you wanna do it, but damn, she beat you to it
When she leans in and kisses you

You're caught up in the moment
You know where this is going, so

If her drink runs dry, don't waste time
Get that bartender pourin' another one
If she says, "Let's dance," tip that band
Drop a twenty, get 'em playin' another one

If your heart's on fire like the sun
'Cause you think that girl could be the one
Take her hand, take that chance
'Cause you might not get another one
Might not get another one
Might not get another one

She could've turned the other way, had any guy in this place
But she's with you, and she don't want another one
You got forever on your mind, and if you play your cards right
This perfect night might lead to another one, yeah

If her drink runs dry, don't waste time
Get that bartender pourin' another one
If she says, "Let's dance," tip that band
Drop a twenty, get 'em playin' another one

And if your heart's on fire like the sun
'Cause you think that girl could be the one
Take her hand, take that chance
'Cause you might not get another one
No

You gotta take her hand and take that chance
'Cause you might not get another one
