

Started With A Song

Brett Kissel

It was midnight at the edge of town
Me and the boys just hanging out
Radio up and the tailgate down
Yeah we were passing something around

Then a rock band that old DJ
Spun a little gold that was custom made
Everybody hollering turn it up
Holding up them dixie cups

Yeah I remember right about then
I could feel a good time, a good time
A good time kicking in

It all started with a song
Flicking that match on the gasoline
Turning them caution lights green
When you're 17 you never felt something that strong
And you can't help but sing along
Looking back on everything I've done I could do no wrong
It all started with a song

She was drop dead, I was tongue tied
She was on the passenger side
Parked down by the river
But I couldn't make the move, I was so shy

Yeah that's a night I would never forget
Coming on the FM
Her leaning in
Leaning in for our first kiss

It all started with a song
Flicking that match on the gasoline
Turning them caution lights green
When you're young and free and never felt something that strong
And you can't help but sing along
Looking back on everything I've done I could do no wrong
It all started with a song

Every night when I'm standing in the spot light
Beating on these 6 strings all night
Yeeah the story of my life
It all started with a song

It all started with a song
Flicking that match on the gasoline
Turning them caution lights green
When you're young and free and never felt something that strong
And you can't help but sing along
Looking back on everything I've done I could do no wrong
It all started with a song
It all started with a song
It all started with a song
Flicking that match on gasoline
Turning them caution lights green
Yeeaaah, it all started with a song

That's right here we go
Yeeah the songs are right and the mood is high
Grab my baby and I hold her tight
Crank that song on the radio
Take her by the hand and feel her close yeeaah