

Daylight

Bridget Kelly

The moon is falling
Tomorrow is coming
Every is calling now for fly
So want to tell you
Insects are burning over night
Laying here this fire
I wish I could flame it with my heart
When morning comes will you be gone?
What if the daylight comes to fast?
What if we take class and never give back
I can feel the morning fails
I can leave myself away
What if the daylight comes to fast?
It's how I should make straight
The way that you move me
The way you make me feel
If are my darkness
If we can just slow down
Time stays still
And now when the day is breaking
My whisper can stay as a paragraph
When morning comes will you be gone?
What if the daylight comes to fast?
What if we take class and never give back
I can feel the morning fails
I can leave myself away
What if the daylight comes to fast?
I should try to say so much
I've been just kid describe my life
What if the daylight comes to fast?
What if we take class and never give back
I can feel the morning fails
I can leave myself away
What if the daylight comes to fast?
What if the daylight comes to fast?
