

Singin

Broken Back

It takes us four walls
To build a house
But It takes some laughs
So we call it home

So when I'm back
To my hometown
The places where
Water cut through stones
And I sing

Hey ho, babe I'm back and I sing
Hey Ho, to mend your heart I sing it
Hey Ho, yes I'm back and I sing
Hey Ho, Hey ho

You got me singing my son, singing my son
Ya got me saving my soul, saving my soul
Ya got me singing my song, singing my song
Ya got me saving my soul, saving my soul

Into the wild
Though the dark seas
I lost my way
Frozen to the bones
But when I'm back
To these old trees
The places where
Water cut through stones
I'll sing it

Hey ho, babe I'm back and I sing
Hey Ho, to mend your heart I'll sing it
Hey Ho, yes I'm back and I sing
Hey Ho, Hey ho

You got me singing my son, singing my son
Ya got me saving my soul, saving my soul
Ya got me singing my song, singing my song
Ya got me saving my soul, saving my soul

Singing my song
Singing my song
Singing my song
Singing my song

Singing my song
Singing my song
Singing my song
Singing my song
