

Wonders

Broken Back

Should we ride to the north and to the south
To the western wonders, burning all desires, tell me
Should we go somewhere high together now?
To the eastern colors, lovers undercover

Stuck in this bad place, just looking out the window
He turned a blind eye to see how far he can go
Tell me, my love, why should we forget what we know
Forget how it was when we were young years ago

Should we ride to the north and to the south
To the western wonders, burning all desires, tell me
Should we go somewhere high together now?
To the eastern colors, lovers undercover

I don't know where I could go forever with you
Take you somewhere high, a secret place just for you
We're surely there now, this is our chance to break through
No more hateful lies, a secret place just for you

Should we ride to the north and to the south
To the western wonders, burning all desires, tell me
Should we go somewhere high together now?
To the eastern colors, lovers undercover

Take you somewhere high
We're surely there now