

The Mall And Misery

Broken Bells

Use your intuition
It's all you've got
Keys are rare
There's a dozen locks
Standing your way
So goes the gold age
To your entire life

Digging for a way
You cast a spell
Carve a path from all the things they sell
But they don't let go
Just thought you should know
Keep them away

I know what I know
Would not fill a thimble
So let your mind go (let my mind go)
Straight down the runway
Does one want to Get more used to?
The mall and misery (the mall and the misery)
The debt mounts it costs to be alive

Oh she lies half burning
From the biting cold
You're falling a lamb
What you've never been told
There's a real world
Somewhere a good girl
Lives and breathes

Part of her opened the callow mind
Audio has stolen the morning tide
There's a dark time
This is your dark life
Feel your heart

I know what I know
Would not fill a thimble
So let your mind go (let my mind go)
Straight down the runway
Does one want to Get more used to?
The mall and misery (the mall and the misery)
The debt mounts it costs to be alive
