

Free

Broken Iris

I've drained all my thoughts until the ink of my pen disappeared
d
My soul is running on empty but I don't mind
It'll fill up again, oh, when it fills up within Scattered puzzle pieces don't mean anything to me
I've been lost

I spilled all my guts until the ink of my pen disappeared
My soul is running so steady and I feel fine
Scattered puzzle pieces, no glue to keep them together
But I see it through

I've been lost for a little while
But I feel free

I spilled all my guts until the blood on my hands disappeared
My soul is running so steady and I feel fine
Scattered puzzle pieces, no glue, I'll keep them together
'Cause I see it through

I've been lost for a little while but I feel free
And sooner or later my fate will embrace me
So until then, I sit and stare into thin air
(Into thin air, into thin air)

I've been lost for a little while but I feel free
And sooner or later my fate will embrace me
So until then, I sit and stare into thin air
Into thin air, 'cause I am free
I am, I am free