Bronze Radio Return

I've been spending far too much time
With my headphones on
I've been learning all the words
As I listen to the same old songs
Cause it's so comfortable when you know how it goes
I suppose to each their own
Once out of sight but today I'll invite Something new into my home

So darkness, darkness
Come on in
I won't hide from you again
The unknown lives when lights go dim
So here we are let's begin

I won't be afraid when a stranger walks in I'll just pour a little glass, grab a seat and ask him where he's been Cause I'm looking for nothing less than something more
Of things I have not seen
I know in advance, there's a risk and there's a chance
This could all backfire on me

So darkness, darkness
Come on in
I won't hide from you again
The unknown lives when lights go dim
So here we are let's begin

No, I won't hold back and I won't keep out
The dark unknown we don't talk about
I'll have my fears but I'll have no doubt
It's at my door and it's knockin'
Loud

So darkness, darkness
My new friend
Glad you're here
Won't you come on in?
All of us let's make something
I'm ready now, let's begin

So darkness, darkness
Come on in
I won't hide from you again
The unknown lives when lights go dim
So here we are let's begin
Here we are let's begin
