

Shade Tonight

Bronze Radio Return

Woke this morning and my head was pounding
Should have been there an hour ago
Gotta go gotta go to the places we know
And let the time slip away to hide the feelings we show
Get on down with my feet on the ground
And I'm trying not to walk away
Just another day, just another day
When the shadows gone come to play

Got nothing in my kitchen, but that's alright
Cause I got 45 dollars gonna keep me high all night
Now all these things will fade when I find myself some shade

Credit man calling and he wants to talk
But I'm not speak to him
Cause his tone is grim and his chances are slim
To ever get my money again
That's alright baby, I don't mind
When things like this go bad
Cause you can never lose something you never had
When the shade still keeps you glad
Now I don't want to leave here baby
But I'm sure it will follow me
Cause where ever I may go
My shadow will shade on me
Early in the morning, sun's last light
Me I want to find my shade tonight
Some people like to drink a few and some folks like to fight
But me I want to find my shade tonight
Me I want to find my shade tonight
And I'm thinking that I just don't mind
When the shadows come and shade my time
And I'm thinking that I'll be just fine
Cause the shade is gonna keep me smiling by
Some people saying that its just no good
That the shades no place to be to be
And that's there advice and while it's very nice
The shade's alright with me
Why can't we spend some time and watch it all pass by
In the shade we've made a place to fade the daily pace
And that's gonna get us by

Got nothing in my kitchen, that's all right
Cause I got 45 dollars gonna keep me high all night
Now all these things will fade when I find myself some shade
