

Sober

BROODS

I am sober
Lying in my bed
Recreating you inside my head
You speak softly
Resonating in my subconscious
Where did we begin

Just one break in the year
When it's all about the two of us
And nothing's ever been so good
You remember a life
That was all about the two of us
But you and I, we never knew

It was the greatest place I've ever been
And it was right in front of me
You carried me back home again
Where you became it all for me

Still and silent
One gets used to it
Being idle
But not you and me

Just one break in the week
We sit down as just the two of us
And think about the life we know
Oh the promise we made
It will always be the two of us
The dream of being in control

Ohh
Where you became it all for me
