

Knock

Brooke Eden

I hate to call you Patsy Cline but girl you acting crazy
Getting kinda hard to watch
He's been dropping warning signs like petals off a daisy
Looking like a "loves me not"

Oh, you've been locked outside of an empty room
But your momma didn't raise no fool

You don't have to knock, knock, knock
On a heart that opens up for you baby, baby
The world won't stop if it's just not in the cards
That you've been playing with baby, baby
Why waste all your nights on love
That won't come back your way? Hey
You don't have to knock, knock, knock
On a heart that opens up for you baby, baby

Yeah, the 1950s called and begging's out of fashion
Them boots should take a walk (oh)
Honestly, you got mystery all twisted up with passion
You see, a door is just a wall

Yeah, you don't have to knock, knock, knock
On a heart that opens up for you baby, baby
The world won't stop if it's just not in the cards
That you've been playing with baby, baby
Why waste all your nights on love
That won't come back your way? Hey
You don't have to knock, knock, knock
On a heart that opens up for you baby, baby

Oh, you've been locked outside of an empty room
But your momma didn't raise no fool

(You don't have to knock)
You don't have to knock, knock, knock
On a heart that opens up for you baby, baby
The world won't stop if it's just not in the cards
That you've been playing with baby, baby
Why waste all your nights on love
That won't come back your way? Hey
You don't have to knock, knock, knock
On a heart that opens up for you baby, baby
(That opens up for you baby)

On love that won't come back your way
