Shit, motherfucker you talkin' to the kid.

[Talking: Brother Ali]
Yeah. Ladies and gentlemen. Boys and girls
The one and only Brother Ali is in the house tonight
That's me. We gettin' directly into this right here

Hold up Do you mind? I'm trying to build a kingdom here Walk to the store with your boy let's get a ginger beer Listen here I got some shit to sprinkle in your ear Rip and tear the kick and snare, whistle like Rakim was near Independent penmanship, sending bitch-tendency-havin'-richrappers to their residences My present tense is legendary livin' Like my fifty grand merch, work for what I'm givin' Build and add to it with the skill I mastered it Carefully grabbin' shit to build a castle with Ended up champion of underground rappin' It ain't what I imagined but I still ain't mad at it I'm in a college town bossin' that crowd around Raise your hands, wave em up, do it like this and holler out Like a Gladiator movie score Try to teach a cracker rapper how to clap on two and four In the crowd I'm shakin' peoples hands Just to take an equal stance with my barely legal fans Can't believe they ass came and heard him raw Made em want to run and hug him with a sweaty shirt and all Labels turn me off, I ain't what they lookin' for I ain't got a six pack, tatoo or a bullet hole But I'm muscle underneath all that You get your peanut smacked I scrap like I'm Butterbean on crack How he manage not to catch heat flashes? On stage Adidas jacket doin' Heavy D dances

I say shit motherfucker shit
Ali and I'm sittin' on another hit
He got his fist up to the government
Still tryin' to get his dick sucked, son of a bitch
So let me talk my shit
C'mon now, let me talk my shit
Calm down, let me talk my shit

Even if they snappin' they could only be half of it

These rappers are graffiti on canvas