

Deep beneath the surface lurks a mighty beast
A reptile of the ocean, a viper unleashed
This creature is enormous with fangs as tall as trees
The wretched spawn of Loki that was banished to the seas

Eyes glowing red in the dark on the ocean floor
As the serpent awakes

Powersnake
You will fade under the shadow of the
Powersnake
The wingless dragon
Storm fiend
Rival of the thunder god
Stronger than all
Powersnake

Driven out by Odin, no place to call his home
Cast out to the ocean to the great unknown
His lust for vengeance rising with the power of the waves
This dear abomination of a child has many names
Lindworm, king of serpents, girdle of the realm
This guy has nothing left to prove with size that overwhelms
Jörmundgandr, midgard serpent, bane of Thor
The snake will get his sweet revenge, come the final war

Eyes glowing red in the dark on the ocean floor
Mighty serpent
Roaring in the deep he's a beast that devours all
And the serpent awakes

Powersnake
You will fade under the shadow of the
Powersnake
The wingless dragon
Storm fiend
Rival of the thunder god
Stronger than all
Powersnake

So elusive and mysterious Nessie is no match
The only thing in all the seas Thor could never catch
With scales tough as shining steel and steel in heart and mind
Across the world and back again his body he can wind
The powersnake will drag you down and drown you in his flesh
Beware to swim, and fear the sea, he likes his dinner fresh

Powersnake
You will fade under the shadow of the
Powersnake
The wingless dragon
Storm fiend
Rival of the thunder god
Stronger than all
Powersnake