

Driving Away

Bruce Cockburn

The dichotomy of being a sentient being
Driving away, driving away
Angel in the heart lost out this time
Driving away, driving away

The calamity of seeing and fleeing the sight
Driving away, blue as the night

Driving away, blue as the night
Mustang, lizard, mud and light
Blood and diamonds, fight or flight
Right?

The picture of the world that's coming clear
Driving away, driving away
The things you never thought your ears would hear
Driving away, driving away

The ashes of a heart drift past the lights
Driving away, blue as the night

Driving away, blue as the night
Mustang, lizard, mud and light
Blood and diamond, fight or flight
Right?

Driving away, blue as the night
Mustang, lizard, mud and light
Blood and diamond, fight or flight
Right?
