You're Alright

Bry

I've been trying to try to work it out, I can't do it
I've been trying to try to work it out, I can't do it

You've been sleeping in cause you know no better
And whether you care for those you once adored
As they queue outside your bedroom door
I've not seen you this down since you came around at Christmas
I witnessed a fall from grace
From the brightest to the darkest place

And you said it was the last time, love
I know it kills that you're not someone else
But you said it was the last time, love

(Wait) Tell me you're not good enough
(Stay) Tell me you're still giving up
(Shame) When you're all I'm thinking of
You're alright love, you're alright

If I'd a way with words, I'd write away the hurt
Instead I lie dormant at your bedside
Without any words to ease your mind
I've not felt this useless, how can I get you through this?
Oh if lives were for the taking
I'd give you mine without hesitating

And you said it was the last time, love
I know it kills that you're not someone else
But you said it was the last time, love

(Wait) Tell me you're not good enough
(Stay) Tell me you're still giving up
(Shame) When you're all I'm thinking of
You're alright love, you're alright [x2]

I've been trying to work it out, I can't do it
I've been trying to work it out, I can't do it [x4]

(Wait) Tell me you're not good enough
(Stay) Tell me you're still giving up
(Shame) When you're all I'm thinking of
You're alright love, you're alright [x2]

I've been trying to work it out, I can't do it
I've been trying to work it out, I can't do it
