

Miss America

Bryan Adams

it was the hottest summer, i was seventeen you were a little older, ya the best i'd ever seen we were young and foolish, only out for laughs didn't realise that time would fly so fast miss america, tell me where you are can't believe I've gone and lost you just a photograph - just a memory to me ya we were so misunderstood, thought we had it good but just too young to know it and now - i remember the way we were

I can hear your laughter, like it was yesterday you would put your hair up, I'd take it down, I liked it that way we stayed out late and counted stars from the backseat of my car you said it's love, I said ok didn't know what else to say we traced our names out in the stars ya the world was ours

I'm ready, I am ready for the way we were, way back before we both grew up, and you left town miss USA, where are you now?

i can't forget the way we were...miss america
