

Lonely

Bryan Andrews

Nobody talks about how lonely it is when you turn twenty something
You can't hide it, you can't fight it, you just try to find your own way
You're stuck between making that phone call and not calling them back at all
So you get drunk and send them a text that says "Come over, I'm alone"

Was I just born too late?
Is it real or is it fake?
Can't tell anymore these days
But I'm so lonely

And I don't wanna meet your momma
Yeah I ain't tryin' to see the coast
'Cause it really ain't worth the drama
When you turn into a ghost
And I just need you to hold me
When I'm feeling cold
Are you looking for the one and only
No I'm just lonely

Nobody talks about how hard it can be when you're pushing thirty
And you get dressed up just to impress 'em but then you ain't even over your ex yet
Feels like all your friends are moving on and you're wondering where you went wrong
Hell I'm swiping left and swiping right while I'm writing this song

Was I just born too late?
Is it real or is it fake?
Can't tell anymore these days
But I'm so lonely

And I don't wanna meet your momma
Yeah I ain't tryin' to see the coast
'Cause it really ain't worth the drama
When you turn into a ghost
And I just need you to hold me
When I'm feeling cold
Are you looking for the one and only
No I'm just lonely
No I'm just lonely

Society's got me insane
Yeah something's gotta change
I don't even know what I'm saying
But I don't wanna be lonely

And I wanna meet your momma
Yeah I'm tryin' to see the coast
'Cause what if you ain't like the others
And you don't turn into a ghost
Yeah I just need you to hold me
When I'm feeling cold
Now I'm looking for the one and only
'Cause I don't wanna be lonely