

Things Are Gonna Change

Bryan Duncan

Tell me you don't sleep at night, I know
Because of how things have been
And tell me how you just don't trust your life to someone
Don't trust that love can win

Just as sure as God lives in my heart I'll say
Take heart, it won't stay this way

If there's one thing you can count on
If there's one thing you can know for sure
If there's one thing you can count on
Things are gonna change

If there's one thing you can count on
Things are gonna change

I'm sure it's hard to be where you are now
Won't say I've been there before
But I'll be at your side in silence
Words are wasted before a broken heart

Where I've failed in the past to be there for you
You'll find this truth coming through

If there's one thing you can count on
Things are gonna change

Don't give up, well, I've seen some hard things
I never thought that I would ever smile again
Holding on when I feel half-hearted
I keep my faith without a way to explain it

'Cause I believe
It won't always be like this everyday
Hold on and trust what I say

If there's one thing, if there's one thing
If there's one thing God has promised
Things are gonna change, oh, yeah

If there's one thing you can count on
Things are gonna change

Gotta have a little faith
Maybe add a little trust, add a lot of love
You see you're gonna rise above
The things that are so rough

'Cause we have a hope
And we'll be alright
You know things are gonna change
But not overnight

Gotta have a little faith
Have a little trust, add a lot of love
And you're gonna rise above
The things that are so rough

Gotta have a little faith
Have a little trust, add a lot of love
You know things are gonna change
But not overnight

Baby, have a little faith
Have a little trust
You're gonna rise above
The things that are so rough
We'll be alright