

Your Everlasting Love

Bryan Duncan

I walk the straight and narrow toward Heaven,
But it's taken me high and low,
I'm losing count of the times You've forgiven
When I stumble.

With every step of faith that I've taken
I find the joy that I long to know,
Knowing You're with me
Always loving, and always faithful.
Whenever I'm hurting, You are my haven.
Whenever I falter, You are my friend.
Through all of my worry, all of my striving
You come to my rescue again and again.
And You're taking me to heaven
With Your everlasting love.

I'm in Your everlasting love!
In the face of all the good times,
When the struggle is over,
There's still nothing better than to know
That Your love is mine.

Through all my complaining,
And begging for mercy,
Still line after line,
You fill my songs with love.
Whenever I'm hurting, You are my haven.
Whenever I falter, You are my friend.
Through all of my worry, all of my striving,
You come to my rescue again and again.

And You're taking me to heaven
With Your everlasting love.
And You're taking me to heaven
With Your everlasting love.
I'm in Your everlasting love.
I'm in Your everlasting love.
Your everlasting, Your everlasting love!
