

Whiskey And The Devil

Bryan Martin

Well, I'm getting older
And I'm growing tired
I ain't seen a mirror in a long, long while
I've lost a lot of weight
And most of my mind
But, damn you, whiskey
You've let me down for the last time

Whiskey and the devil
And all the hell it's put me through
The devil drove me to drinking
The drinking drove me away from you
And I still have your memory
That's one thing I can't leave behind
Well, damn you, whiskey
You've let me down for the last time

Out on this road
It's lonely and cold
I can't seem to find you
No matter where I go
And this old bottle
Has been a thorn in my side
Well, damn you, whiskey
You've let me down for the last time

Whiskey and the devil
And all the hell it's put me through
The devil drove me to drinking
The drinking drove me away from you
And I still have your memory
That's one thing I can't leave behind
Well, damn you, whiskey
You've let me down for the last time

Well, I'm getting older
And I'm growing tired
I ain't seen a mirror in a long, long while
