

Daydreams

Bryce Savage

Flutter in her stomach, butterflies
She be living for these little magic nights
When she with him, yeah she get the feeling high
You can see it in her big pretty eyes...
Sparkle shine, yeah her smile bright
She a moon-child just living life
She a groove child when she dance at night
She's in love with a boy with blueish eyes...
When he with her, yeah he feel alive
Finally someone he can trust inside
Finally someone he can live this life
And live together till the end of time
He don't fall fast, but he falls hard
Yeah she falls fast, so she's full of scars
Maybe with each other they won't fall apart
Maybe with each other they could restart...

They live in their daydreams
A fairytale that they re-play in their heads
And both sit their praying
That one day they'll find their Romeo to Juliet...

But they're all alone!

One day he went to a coffee house
Head was foggy, he was in a cloud
Long line, yeah a big crowd
Ain't got time for this here and now
She was working at the register-
Every day the same it was all a blur
What's the name on the order sir?
Then he walked up to the register...
They could feel a different energy
Blushing cheeks a little chemistry-
Pulled to each other like it's gravity
Drawn to each other like it's meant to be
Two lost souls in this galaxy
Every life a different little mystery
Always found each other throughout history
They're just meant to be, yeah it's destiny...

Now they're together forever
Two souls whenever, wherever
And now they're together forever
Their daydreams became something better...

They live in their daydreams
A fairytale that they re-play in their heads
And both sit their praying
That one day they'll find their Romeo to Juliet...

Now they're not alone!
