

And So We Age

Brymir

What the fuck are you waiting for?
When day by day your face in the mirror
Just withers and decays
You know you've lost your way...
The same old sun burns your blinding eyes
As your regrets poison your frail and bleeding soul
Make me whole!

And so we age
Waiting for our fate! (For our fate)
So weak, so numb
Sick of the endless fight
Yet all the fables of man must end in triumph

Dreams you lost, forever haunting
"Fate, did you betray me?
Won't you see me through, just like you used to do?"
Abandoned! All your hope begins to wane
As you surrender, again
And again, and again

The sun shines over the same old
Over the same old
The sun shines over the same old
Over the same old

And so we age
Waiting for our fate! (For our fate)
So weak, so numb
Sick of the endless fight
Yet all the fables of man must end in triumph