

Chasing the Skyline

Brymir

Turning of a darkened mind
Flaring of the shinning light we hide inside
Surge along the tide of the rising storm
Unchain your soul and let yourself fall

In splendour and grace
Decide and embrace your path
From darkness to fame

Can you fly
And conquer your twilight (Chasing the skyline)
Your soul is longing for grandeur
This is your blight
Oh, the iron still glows (Now strike, and prosper)

Shed your skin, scarred and worn
See within and find yourself reborn
Sacrifice all you loved
Leave and rise as a paragon

Conquer the pantheon
Harness your fate and ride
Into endless skies

Can you fly
And conquer your twilight (Chasing the skyline)
Your soul is longing for triumph and grandeur
The fire wanes

Enter the twilight
Or reach for the skyline
Chasing the skyline
Blazing horizon

Never too late
For us to choose
All bets are off
And we will lose

Never too soon
To drop the weight
Of your remorse
And watch the sky
Because this is life