

Alone

Brymo

My baby is gone
She split like a splitter
Now my life is back when it binter
How can I say goodbye to love so young
I was sponged, hung and love cross
My cup full of dross
Like a blast of wind, she came
The sea went away
But what more can I say!
But my baby is gone

My soul wanders in the darkness of love exit
I hope her tears and laughters struggles
For my sorrow
My love has furthered away
Winds of flurry

Now, I'm alone cause she's gone
Alone, no one to call my own
My heart is a pool of un-shedding tears
My pain fizzle, like rain
It sizzle, I'm fizzle
Out on the roof top of my life
Pouring on the liquid cupid of my part
Alas like rain, my pain, days, not to be dispute
As it join put my hair
My hands on my feet
This slit still it pour
Cause why I ask you to please me
You only tease me miss
With your kiss
Which I still miss

My life is a song! And my mind find the lyrics hung"
My drum of my heart sound like a temple gun
My life is a poem, the lyrics another side of love song
How come, I walk alone on busy street
I see a pretty girl walks by on beautiful feet
Just when I'm about to speak
I realise we were once seeing different things
I pray God, I wanna be a man
It clears, she wants a man
But, I'm not clear if that's the man that I am
So I act like I do not care
And walking by, thinking God
She's fly, neither us nay of hopes and dreams, so it seems

I wipe my heart clean, cause even to myself I gatta be mean, so I need to be truly at home
I gatta be alone, cause even when I'm with you
I still feel lone, so alone
But by Jove, life alone is not enough
Truly alone, wanting some Getting none
How to have some fun, by my lonesome suffering
A sufferage of boredom
So I'm singing song where lyrics only hum

And the only word deservable is alone, alone, alone
Truly alone

Poetry! My only companion
Is why I keep keeping on, non-stopping
Keeping on, from dusk to dawn
On and on and on
But from now on, it's on
I'm gone