

Jane

Brynn Cartelli

If my mother named me Jane
Wonder if I'd be the same
Would I fit inside this frame?
Take up all my empty space?
If my mother named me Jane
Could I love someone to stay?
Hold on tight without a break
Wish I thought of this in May

For so long I told myself we were so wrong
Put us on a shelf, then I searched for
You in someone else and found nothin'
I said I moved on, even I don't believe it
Heard our song playin' loud on the speakers
Tried to be strong, but it just made me weaker in the end

Maybe you won't love me 'cause I've gone insane
But maybe you would love Jane

If my mother named me Jane
I would never show up late
Never need to catch a plane
Never need to run away

For so long I told myself we were so wrong
Put us on a shelf, then I searched for
You in someone else and found nothin'
Said I moved on, even I don't believe it
Heard our song playin' loud on the speakers
Tried to be strong, but it just made me weaker in the end

Maybe you won't love me 'cause I've gone insane
But maybe you-

My friend said I'm like a glass hammer
I bet Jane wouldn't break under pressure
But when I saw you in November
I told myself I would do better
Better for you

For so long I told myself we were so wrong
Put us on a shelf, then I searched for
You in someone else and found nothin'
I said I moved on, even I don't believe it
Heard our song playin' loud on the speakers
Tried to be strong, but it just made me weaker in the end

Maybe you won't love me 'cause I've gone insane
You know I've gotta grow up, but you don't wanna wait
So find a better version, version of me
'Cause maybe you would love Jane

Very good
