Until the day I die
Until the day the oceans go dry
You'll always have a place in my heart

You must be doing well, you must be comfortable now
The season when you met me has come again. you must Be doing well, the girl who foolishly smiled even in pain
The girl who only knew me is now a 21-year-old woman
When the moon is half-asleep at dawn
Sometimes, I think of you and I get curious
Always busy, chased by time and scared of people
The only thing I can do is rely on alcohol every night
Where are you and what are you doing?
Did you meet a good person and are you happy?
Our young and immature days
Were innocent and pretty
Because we passionately
Wanted each other like fools

Why did that happen
When we were so happy?
Now

You must be doing well, you must be comfortable now
The season when you met me has come again
You must be doing well, the girl who foolishly smiled even in pain
The girl who only knew me is now a 21-year-old woman

She just shed her young girl image
When we said goodbye, tears were in her eyes
When we had to swallow
In more sweet than bitter
We thought love was so easy, it was so sad
The weather was so good back then
Better than me
Now it's stuffy and white like a city
I let out a deep sigh alone at the Han river like a sad tale
I'm still really curious about you
If we meet again? there's no chance... so sick

Why did that happen
When we were so happy?
But that's the past now

You must be doing well, you must be comfortable now
The season when you met me has come again
You must be doing well, the girl who foolishly smiled even in pain
The girl who only knew me is now a 21-year-old woman

Because I love you girl, you know
I'll never let you go, my love
No matter how much time passes by
You'll always be the only girl
That I want in my life
Do you know my heart?

Because I love you girl, you know
You, I never let you go, my love
The girl who only knew me
Is now a 21-year-old woman

Until the day I die

Until the day the oceans go dry
You'll always have a place in my heart
