Never, never fall
Never, never fall

Like those dead leaves there that have fallen and are flying
My love is collapsing without strength

Your heart is only going further away, I can't grab you
I can't grab you any more more more
I can't hold on more, yeah

Over there, the autumn leaves that look like they're at stake
Seem like they're looking at us
If our hands touch, even if it's all at once
It only seems like it's going to be crumbs
I just only looked with the winds of autumn
The speech and facial expressions that have gotten colder all of a sudden
I can only see our relationship withering
Like the autumn sky, it's empty between us
An ambiguous difference that is different from before
A night that's much more quiet today
A single autumn leaf that's attached to the branch
It's breaking, I can see the thing called the end
The dead leaves that are becoming shriveled
The silence inside your aloof heart
Please don't fall
Please don't fall, the dead leaf that's becoming crumbs

I want you who makes eye contact with me
I want you who wants me again
Please don't fall
Please don't collapse
Never never fall
Don't go far far away

Baby you girl I can't hold onto you
Baby you girl I can't give up on you
Like the dead leaves that fell
This love, like the dead leaves
Never never fall
It's withering

As if every autumn leaf has fallen
As if everything that seemed eternal is going further away
You're my fifth season
Because even if I try to see you, I can't Look, to me, you're still green
Even if our hearts aren't walking, it walks by itself
Our foolishness, like laundry, is being hung piece by piece
Only the bright memories are dirty, it falls on me
Even if I don't shake my branch, it keeps falling
That's right, in order to raise my love, it falls
Even if we're close, my two eyes become further, spreads further
Like this, being thrown out
Inside my memories, I become young again

Never never fall yeah
Never never fall yeah

I want you who makes eye contact with me
I want you who wants me again
Please don't fall
Please don't collapse
Never never fall
Don't go far far away

Why can I still not give up on you?
I hold onto the withered memories
Is it greed?
The lost seasons I try to restore, I try to restore them

Blaze them brightly, flare
It was all pretty, wasn't it? Our pathroads
But it all withered
The dead leaves fall down like tears
The wind blows and everything drifts apart all day
The rain pours and shatters
Until the last leaf, you you you

I want you who makes eye contact with me
I want you who wants me again
Please don't fall
Please don't collapse
Never never fall
Don't go far far away

Baby you girl I can't hold onto you
Baby you girl I can't give up on you
Like the dead leaves that fell
This love, like the dead leaves
Never never fall
It's withering

Never never fall
Never never fall
