DNA

None of this is a coincidence
Because we're the two who found our destiny

At first sight, I could recognize you
As if we were calling for each other
The DNA in my blood vessels tell me
That it's you I was looking all over for

Our meeting is like a mathematical formula
Commandments of religion, providence of the universe;
The evidence of destiny given to me
You're the source of my dream
Take it, take it
My hand reaching out to you is my chosen fate

Don't worry, love
None of this is a coincidence
We're totally different, baby
Because we're the two who found our destiny

From the day of the universe's creation and beyond
Through the infinite centuries and beyond
In the previous life and maybe the next too
We're eternally together

None of this is a coincidence
Because we're the two who found our destiny

I want it this love I want it real love
I only focus on you
You steer me a little harder
The DNA of the genesis wants you
This is inevitable, I love us
We are the only true lovers

Every time I see her, I freak out
Surprisingly, I keep gasping and it's weird, maybe
This is the emotion they call love
Because from the very beginning, my heart runs to you

Don't worry, love
None of this is a coincidence
We're totally different, baby
Because we're the two who found our destiny

From the day of the universe's creation and beyond
Through the infinite centuries and beyond
In the previous life and maybe the next too
We're eternally together

None of this is a coincidence
Because we're the two who found our destiny

Don't look back
Because we're the two who found our destiny
Don't regret it, baby
Because we're forever
Forever
Forever
Forever
Forever
We are together

Don't worry, love
None of this is a coincidence
We're totally different, baby
Because we're the two who found our destiny
