They call me a try-hard

Our generation has had it hard

Hurry, chase 'em

Thanks to those that came before us I'm spread too thin

They call me a try-hard

Our generation has had it hard

Hurry, chase 'em

My teachers were born with it all

At my part time job, it's "all for experience"

At school, there's the teachers

My superiors use violence

In the media they go on about "the generation that's given up"

Change the rules, change change

The ones who came before us want to, want to maintain

But we can't do that, bang bang

This ain't normal

This ain't normal

Ah, stop going on about 'effort' and more 'effort'

Ah, it makes my skin crawl

Ah, try harder, ah, try harder

Ah, you really don't have a chance

As expected of the ones before us

Ah, stop going on about 'effort'

Ah, it makes my skin crawl

Ah, try harder, ah, try harder

Ah, you really don't have a chance

(As expected of them), they meet your expectations

(As expected of them), they've earned their name

(As expected of them), they can just take it all

(As expected of them), those that came before us

They call me a try-hard

Our generation has had it hard

Hurry, chase 'em

Thanks to those that came before us I'm spread too thin

They call me a try-hard
Our generation has had it hard
Hurry, chase 'em
My teachers were born with it all

I've got a crow-tit's legs, and you have a stork's legs
They all say their legs are worth a million bucks
My legs are shorter, so how do you expect me to keep up?
They say it shouldn't matter since we're coming from the same place
Never, never, never

Change the rules, change change
The ones who came before us want to, want to maintain
But we can't do that, bang bang
This ain't normal

(As expected of them)

It's my fault? You're joking, right?
This is fair? Oh, are you crazy?
This is right? You must be kiddin' me
You must be kiddin' me
You you must be kiddin' me

Ah, stop going on about 'effort' and more 'effort'
