

Leavin' Dirty Tracks

Buck Owens

Just a year ago today when you packed and went away
And you started out to make the world your home
To the city you did go to learn of things you didn't know
Just a country girl who's never been around
Yes darling just a country girl who's never been around

In a tavern with a crowd where the music is so loud
There you made your name and there's no turning back

You should have known that country feet
Were never made for city streets
You're just a country girl a-leaving dirty tracks
Yes darling you're a country girl a-leaving dirty tracks

As you walk into the night where the lights are shining bright
You'll remember this ol' country boy at home
For now that you have crossed the line you no longer can be mine
You're a country girl a-walking all alone
Yes darling you're a country girl a-walking all alone
