Why We Said Goodbye

Buddy Jewell

I remember Sunday mornings, walking on the beach And that place we'd stop for breakfast with the old red vinyl s eats

The hours of the tide chart
The way the sunlight danced upon your face

That antique roller coaster you just had to ride I remember how you laughed at the terror in my eyes The color and the detail
Just like it was yesterday

And I remember how I broke down, the night my father died I didn't have to tell you, you just held me while I cried You're sewn into the fabric, the pieces of my life And I just can't remember why we said goodbye

Up and down this boardwalk lonely people sit I know it wasn't perfect but nothin' ever is The sails out in the harbor Are searching for the wind

I just had to call you, I had to hear your voice And tell you I still love you, we still have a choice You're sewn into the fabric, the pieces of my life And I just can't remember why we said goodbye

Everything I do leads me back to you I know I just can't let us go

There must have been a reason, but I can't remember now I know if I could hold you we would work it out You're sewn into the fabric the pieces of my life And girl, let's give it one more try I just can't remember why we said goodbye
