Every Tradition

Bully

Forgetting all that comes with space
Like your hello I still retrace and I
Think unknowing you is the hardest thing
I ever had to do

It's like pressure to have a baby
When I don't want one in my body
You say my mind is gonna change one day
But I felt this way forever some things
Stay the same, I stay the same

If you're gonna shame me
Turn around bite your tongue 'till it bleeds
Don't need you to save me
Something's off, you're wrong about the dream
And I've been fucking up
Wasting my time, second guessing what I need
I dunno what you want
It's evocative, you're so convincing
Yeah, I hear you but
Nothing's changed for me
Nothing's changed for me

You beat yourself up wondering why
I won't take a vow, I don't even wanna try
And you say my mind will change one day
But right now feels like I'm okay and

If you're gonna shame me
Turn around bite your tongue till it bleeds
Don't need you to save me
Something's off, you're wrong about the dream
And I've been fucking up
Wasting my time, second guessing what I need
I dunno what you want
It's evocative, you're so convincing
Yeah, I hear you but
Nothing's changed for me
Nothing's changed for me

I never put the blame on you
I never put the blame on you
I never put the blame on you
Not gonna battle

It's like pressure to have a baby
When I don't want one in my body
It's like disassociation with every tradition
It's like disassociation with every tradition
It's like disassociation with every tradition
It's like disassociation with every tradition
