

Behold A Burning Soul

Burden Of Life

Turning back is out of hand
With all I dread unleashed
These thoughts are eating me up from within
As teaching my tongue to teach you

Could you ever understand me on the inside
Where all the wishes grow
Could you ever understand and have some insight
To where all the fear takes hold

Counting my steps on this burning ground
The way back overgrown with thorns
With the ghost of a chance and shivering hands
I pass the point of no return

Could you ever understand me on the inside
Where all the wishes grow
Could you ever understand and have some insight
To where all the fear takes hold

Could you ever understand me on the inside
Where all the wishes grow
Could you ever understand and have some insight
To where all the fear takes hold

Behold A Burning Soul
Behold my burning soul