Burn Season

The world is dark, so cold and empty
Isolated, selfishness that's cutting deep within me
I'm on file, let down and guilty
Suffocating on the lies that are burried deep inside

Why, should I even try to fight
I'm stuck in my own prison and I know that I will never make it out alive
I'm hollow and alone, broken down and empty
Searching for the light burns inside of me

I'm seeing black, I can't control me
Complication in disguise, that's crawling through my mind
My one desire, to kill the wasted
They're screaming in the sky, I'm running out of time

Why, should I even try to fight
I'm stuck in my own prison
and I know that I will never make it out alive
I'm hollow and alone, broken down and empty
Searching for the light burns inside of me

Burns inside, burns inside me
Burns inside of me, inside of me

Why, should I even try to fight
I'm stuck in my own prison
and I know that I will never make it out alive
I'm hollow and alone, broken down and empty
Searching for the light burns inside the light that burns inside of me

LIGHT!!!
