

Last Man Standing

Burning Brides

All that I remember about that day hangs inside a black picture frame fix upon the colors that fade away far away you burn like a falling star she's the only face that I've seen but the last man standing is all we are as we say these words from afar take me to the place where the danger lies this is right where I wanna be where I carved your name on the dead oak tree

far away you burn like a falling star
she's the only face that I've seen

but the last man standing is all we are
and I say (these words from afar) run away and I'll follow run away and I'll follow you to the darkest place on earth