I'm waiting For the perfect time to call you back Cos' I remember saying Don't wanna know the truth Can't handle that And I try to (and I try to) Just forget you (just forget you) But don't know how If only I knew It's written all over your face Such a painful thing to waste Tell me now where do we go? Now the future's not so clear I can't believe we've ended here Where's the world that doesn't care? Maybe I could meet you there Yeah I'm sorry If I slagged you down, I meant no harm When I heard the stories Said things I didn't mean Should have stayed calm But sadly You got angry And it breaks my heart You're so mad at me It's written all over your face Such a painful thing to waste Tell me now where do we go? Now the future's not so clear I can't believe we've ended here Where's the world that doesn't care? Maybe I could meet you there Maybe I could meet you there Maybe I could meet you there It's written all over your face Such a painful thing to waste Tell me now where do we go? Now the future's not so clear I can't believe we've ended here Where's the world that doesn't care? Maybe I could meet you there Maybe I could meet you there

Maybe I should meet you there
