Can We Just Not Talk About Last Night?

Butch Walker

You're not sure what to say to me right now
I can see it in the way you furl your brow
You're French pressed coffee cold
And your lipstick one day old
You're not sure what to say to me right now

I guess we kinda crossed that blurry line
Yeah the night was warm and the sex was more than fine
All your friends are gonna guess we fooled around some more or less
I guess we kinda finally crossed a blurry line

And you can ask me if its gonna change the way I act around you
I can tell you that it's gonna be alright
We can talk about the way I've always had a thing for you
But can we just not talk about last night
Oh can we just not talk about last night

Well I drove by your new job at that fancy cocktail bar
I'd be lying if I said I did it fast
And I immediately got jealous of you talkin' to those fellas
At your new job at that fancy cocktail bar

Now I can't picture you with clothes on if I tried
Or the fact that when you came you cried
Yeah, I need closure, you need time through the glass you look so fine
But I can't picture you with clothes on if I tried

And you can ask me if its gonna change the way I act around you
I can tell you that it's gonna be alright
We can talk about the way I've always had a thing for you
Can we just not talk about last night
Oh can we just not talk about last night

Yeah, I'm not sure just what to say to you right now
I can see it in the way you furl your brow
And my french press coffee cold and your lipstick, one day old
I ain't sure just what to say to you right now

And you can ask me if its gonna change the way I act around you
I can tell you that it's gonna be alright
We can talk about the way I've always had a thing for you
Can we just not talk about last night
Oh can we just not talk about last night
