

Descending

Butch Walker

Maybe I'm just scared of landing
Maybe you are too
It's a beautiful misunderstanding
From my point of view

Can you feel it now?
The wheels coming down

I just want you to worry about me
Every once in awhile
I just need a sign of life to get me by
You can't fake a smile forever
From a mouth that once was mine
Is it over or finally beginning descending?

There's a memory I keep having
And I don't know what it means
We're not falling, we're not flying
It's somewhere in between

Can you say it now?
You feel it slowing down

I just want you to worry about me

Every once in awhile
I just need a sign of life to get me by
You can't fake a smile forever
From a mouth that once was mine
Is it over or finally beginning descending?

Holding steady
You're restless, I'm ready

I just want you to worry about me
Every once in awhile
I just need a sign of life to get me by
You can't fake a smile forever
From a mouth that once was mine
Is it over or finally beginning descending?

I'm holding steady
You're restless, I'm ready
I'm holding steady
I'm restless, you're ready
I'm holding steady