

You've Changed Everything Now

Buzzcocks

As the day tries to break me
And your charms try to take me
But you've changed everything now
It's been so different lately
Time to go maybe
But you've changed everything now

And the road you're on
And the car that you drive
Makes me wonder if you're still alive

And the world is looking out of place
And the signs are written on your face
And it's me you want to replace

But you've changed everything now
Everything, everything
You've changed everything now

And the world is looking out of place
And the signs are written on your face
And it's me you want to replace

Now the dreams gone away, yeah
There's nothing left to say, yeah
'Cause you've changed everything now
Yeah you've changed everything now
Well, you've changed everything now
