

Purge

CABAL

Sleep, I was asleep. Awoken was screams of fear, there is someone else here. My hands are fumbling to find the light, my limbs are trembling with fright

I dare not speak their name, but I know who they are. They come in the night will everyone sleeps, like shadows they creep

Pale cold hands grabs my neck, chokes my breath, pressing me down on the ground. "Why me, what have I done to deserve this?"

Pale cold hands grabs my neck, chokes my breath, pressing me down on the ground. "Why me, what have I done to deserve this?"

"There is nothing to fear, don't worry my child, we will set you free."

"This world will be reclaimed, true darkness can't be contained"

My consciousness I regain, deep inside this forest I lay chained. The hooded shapes converge all around me

"No world left at all even mountains must fall"

"No world left at all even mountains must fall"

"This world will be reclaimed, true darkness can't be contained"

"There is nothing to fear, don't worry my child, we will set you free." Is the last thing I hear before it all turns black and my world disappears

"We are the only mercy you deserve, we'll rid this world of your disease

Purge this place

We'll rid this world of your disease

Purge this place

We'll rid this world of your disease"