

Seasons

Cadmium

The seasons come and go like thoughts of you
Like a wave returns to the sea into the blue
They change but in a cycle that I can't lose
Each painful but delightful to live through

You came into my life just like another season
Not for long just a time, just like another season
Maybe this time next year you'll reappear for no reason
But I'll cherish everyday till you come my way this season

The seasons turn and change just like your mind
Like the sun gives into the moon into the night
Time continues marching it slowly crawls
With each new one starting I recall

You came into my life just like another season
Not for long just a time, just like another season
Maybe this time next year you'll reappear for no reason
But I'll cherish everyday till you come my way this season

Ooh
Oh, this season
Oh, this season

Each time of year carries memories
Like a never fading whisper in the breeze
Oh, we will keep on changing all over again
Yeah we will keep on changing just like another season
Don't want another day without you by my side, oh, this season
Ooh

You came into my life just like another season
Not for long just a time, just like another season

Ooh
(Just like another season)
Ooh
Just like another season