

The Sting

Cady Groves

Don't know why I though you'd save the day
Cause if anything
You were always meant to walk away, away
And I don't know what we're fighting for Cause it's not what I want anymore
Don't know why I thought you'd save the day, the day

But I never loved you anyway
I just wanted who you promised you could be

I wanna feel the sting, of the real thing
'Stead of the false alarm, when I was in your arms
But when you left last night, I did my best to cry
But I never felt that sting
Still waiting on the real thing

Baby you don't owe a thing to me, anymore
Now I gotta reason to believe
And waiting for
A trust that never needs a ring, someone who tells me everything
But honey you could never be that for me, for me

Cause you never loved me anyway
You just wanted who you got to be with me

But now I wanna feel the sting, of the real thing
'Stead of the false alarm, when I was in your arms
But when you left last night, I did my best to cry
But I never felt that sting
Still waiting on the real thing

I thought it was more than what it was
You swore we would never come undone
I'll wait a life time if forever's what it takes for something
Real

Still waiting to feel that sting, of the real thing
'Stead of the false alarm, when I was in your arms
But when you left last night, I did my best to cry
But I never felt that sting
Still waiting on the real thing

Still waiting on the real thing
I'm waiting, still waiting
I'm waiting, still waiting
Waiting on the real thing.
