

Don't You Forget

Cafuné

I'm sleeping alone tonight
Got something bright on, it's tight, it's tight
Won't play any games with me; the world leaves me beat tonight, oh

This moment is so short; it won't come around anymore
I feel its pulse in me
I know what these nights are good for
I know what these nights are good for

Put some red on your lips
Give your reflection a kiss
To try to make it feel right, to try to make it feel
"It's a vision," you say
They can't take it away
Don't try to hang on too tight, don't try to hang on too tight

I'll let my mirror lie to me
Sometimes I'm satisfied with what I'm trying to be
I'm taking a moment to waste away
Leaving some space to see clearly

This moment is so short; it won't come around anymore
I'm keeping its pulse in me
I know what these nights are good for
I know what these nights are good for

Put some red on your lips
Give your reflection a kiss
To try to make it feel right, to try to make it feel
"It's a vision," you say
They can't take it away
Don't try to hang on too tight, don't try to hang on too
Put some red on your lips
Give your reflection a kiss
To try to make it feel right, to try to make it feel
"It's a vision," you say
They can't take it away
Don't try to hang on too tight, don't try to hang on too tight

Don't you forget, ah
Seems it's getting better
When things are getting better, don't you forget
Don't you forget, ah
Seems it's getting better
When things are getting better, don't you forget
Don't you forget, ah
Seems it's getting better
When things are getting better, don't you forget
Don't you forget, ah
Seems it's getting better
When things are getting better, don't you forget
Don't you forget, ah
Seems it's getting better
When things are getting better, don't you forget

Don't you forget, ah
Seems it's getting better
When things are getting better, don't you forget
Don't you forget, ah
Seems it's getting better
When things are getting better, don't you forget

Put some red on your lips
Give your reflection a kiss
To try to make it feel right, to try to make it feel
"It's a vision," you say
They can't take it away
Don't try to hang on too tight, don't try to hang on too
Put some red on your lips
Give your reflection a kiss
Try to make it feel right, to try to make it feel
"It's a vision," you say
They can't take it away
Don't try to hang on too tight, don't try to hang on too tight