

Running

Cafuné

I laid across the lap of a ghost
I lived and lost and made lots of toasts
There's a fog in my brain
And I can barely see through

I was running outside, couldn't wait another moment
Letting it slide, and last til the sunset
Way I'm gonna glide, rent a car and try to forget
Took a plane last June, thought I'd be sitting next to you
But I took that drive alone, alone, alone

Drove up the coast, it wasn't the most fun I'd ever had
And when I was done, I couldn't just run back home

I was running outside, couldn't wait another moment
Letting it slide, and last 'till the sunset
Way I'm gonna glide, rent a car and try to forget
Took a plane last June, thought I'd be sitting next to you (next to you, next to you, next to you)
But I took that drive alone, alone, alone

Fade into the past, we knew it wouldn't last and Once you let me go, I let you know that I'd be coming back, no limit to what I lack
Remember when you used to send me songs?

I was running outside, couldn't wait another moment
Letting it slide, and last 'till the sunset
Way I'm gonna glide, rent a car and try to forget
Took a plane last June, thought I'd be sitting next to you
But I took that drive alone, alone, alone

Fade into the past, we knew it wouldn't last and
Once you let me go, I let them know that

I just play along
Remember when you used to send me songs?
