

All Over Again

Caitlyn Smith

Underneath the February rain
We cried and told each other everything
We were stupid, we were young, we were so blasé
No one's ever looked at me that way

If I could've seen it all when you first walked in
Could've read the last page first
If I would've known just how the story ends
And how bad it would hurt
I would do it all
I would lose you all over again

Your high would take me higher than the stars
But you'd sink so low I'd lose you there in the dark
I knew how bad I had to let you go
But what we had was so damn beautiful

If I could've seen it all when you first walked in
Could've read the last page first
If I would've known just how the story ends
And how bad it would hurt
I would do it all
I would lose you all over again
(Over and over and over and over again)
Over again
(Over and over and over and over again)

I wouldn't change
A single thing
If knew then that we'd go down in flames

If I could've seen it all when you first walked in
Could've read the last page first
If I would've known just how the story ends
And how bad it would hurt
I would do it all
I would lose you all over again
(Over and over and over and over again)
Over again
(Over and over and over and over again)

(Over and over and over and over again)
Over again
(Over and over and over and over again)