Virtually

Caity Baser

It's alright if now's not the time
Because I'll wait for you
You're on my mind every single night
You're in my dreams too

I'm going through all of our old texts and voicenotes
I'm listening to the songs that you sent on my headphones
Yeah, it's alright if now's not the time
Because I'll wait for you

I know you own my heart
So why're we worlds apart?
If it's not meant to be
How come I see you when I fall asleep?

I'm reading what you said to me
I'm holding you so tight but virtually

I drive around every single night
Hoping that I'll find the answer
Thought it'd calm me down
But never mind 'cause my heart's only beating faster

I'm thinking of everything that I told you
And going back on all of the things that we went through
I drive around but I don't know why
'Cause you're the only answer

And I know you own my heart
So why're we worlds apart?
If it's not meant to be
How come I see you when I fall asleep?

I'm reading what you said to me
I'm holding you so tight but virtually

It's hard letting go
When you're all that I've known
Yeah, you made yourself a part of me

They said now's not the time
I'm not yours, you're not mine
Even though you are like family

And they went through the ice
And although it could walk
I had to choose between you and me

But I cannot sleep cause you're all that I see
And I lay awake thinking what we could be

I know you own my heart
So why're we worlds apart?
If it's not meant to be
How come I see you when I fall asleep?

I'm reading what you said to me

I'm holding you so tight but virtually

'Cause I know you own my heart
So why're we worlds apart?
If it's not meant to be
How come I see you when I fall asleep?

I'm reading what you said to me
I'm holding you so tight...
