

I'd Rather Be Alone

Cal Smith

You don't really love me I might as well be free
Every time I need you you're with someone else not me
When I need a shoulder it's a pillow I cry on
And if I must be lonely I'd rather be alone

You are never with me at least that's how it seems
The only time I hold you in my arms is in my dreams
I'm already used to having you away from home
If I must be lonely I'd rather be alone

I know my heart is gonna break but I won't let it die
I know a million tears will fall and I'll be the first to cry
Cause you can't hurt me anymore you might as well go on Cause if I must be lonely I'd rather be alone
